Battery

HTC Acquire uses a rechargeable battery. How long the battery can last before it needs recharging depends on how you use HTC Acquire. Among these are the features and accessories you use (for example, leaving your Bluetooth® connection always on uses more power). Long phone calls and frequent web browsing uses up a lot of battery power. Also, consider your location: poor signal strength from your mobile network and extreme temperature make the battery work harder.

Removing the battery thin film

Before using HTC Acquire for the first time, you need to remove the thin film wrapped around the battery.

1. Take the bottom cover off.
2. Open the battery compartment door.
3. Remove the battery.
4. Remove the thin film from the battery.

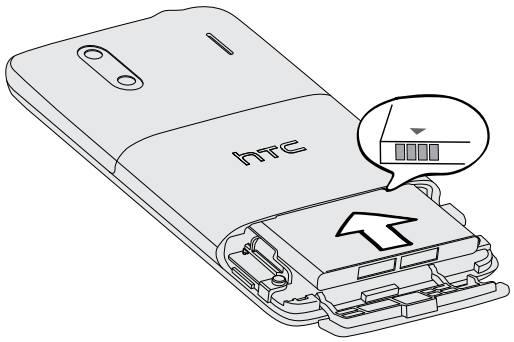
Inserting the battery

1. Take the bottom cover off.
2. Open the battery compartment door.
3. Insert the battery (with its exposed copper contacts first) into the battery compartment.

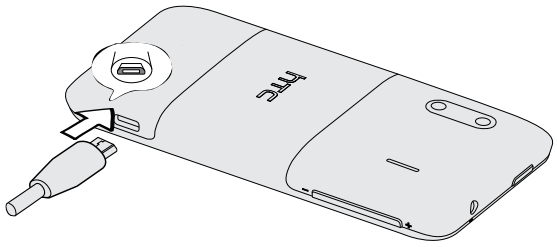


Charging the battery

The battery is partially charged when shipped. Before you turn on and start using HTC Acquire, it is recommended that you charge the battery. Some batteries perform best after several full charge/discharge cycles.

- The battery is already installed in HTC Acquire when shipped. A thin film is inserted between the battery and the compartment. You need to remove this film before you can charge the battery.
- Only the power adapter and USB sync cable provided in the box must be used to charge the battery.
- Do not remove the battery from HTC Acquire while you are charging it using the power or car adapter.

1. Plug the power adapter into the USB connector.



2. Plug in the power adapter to an electrical outlet to start charging the battery.

As the battery is being charged, the notification LED shows a solid orange light. The light turns to solid green when the battery is fully charged.

When you charge the battery and HTC Acquire is on, the charging battery icon is displayed in the status bar. After the battery has been fully charged, the charging battery icon turns to a full battery icon.

As a safety precaution, the battery stops charging when it overheats.

Setting up HTC Acquire for the first time

When you switch on HTC Acquire for the first time, you’ll be asked to set it up. You can choose your language, how you want to connect to the Internet, and whether you want your current location to be automatically detected. If you still have personal contacts and calendar events stored on your old phone, you can easily transfer them to HTC Acquire through Bluetooth as well.

Be sure to sign in to your Google® Account so you can use Google apps like Gmail™ and Android Market™. You can also set up your other email accounts, favorite social networks like Facebook® and Twitter™, and more.

Just follow the onscreen instructions and you’ll be up and running in no time.

Some features that need to connect to the Internet such as location-based services and auto-sync of your online accounts may incur extra data fees. Don’t worry. You can enable or disable them in settings later on.

Ways of getting contacts into HTC Acquire

There are several ways you can add contacts to HTC Acquire. You can sync HTC Acquire with contacts from your Google Account, computer, Facebook, and more.

HTC Sync™	Sync the contacts from your old phone to your computer, and then use HTC Sync to sync HTC Acquire with your computer's Microsoft® Outlook®, Outlook Express or Windows® Contacts.
Gmail	Google contacts are imported to HTC Acquire after you sign in to your Google Account. You can also create more Google contacts right from HTC Acquire.
Facebook	Log in to your Facebook account through Facebook for HTC Sense to import your Facebook friends' contact information.
Phone contacts	You can choose to create and store contacts directly in HTC Acquire or transfer existing ones from your old phone.

Microsoft Exchange ActiveSync®	HTC Acquire syncs your work contacts from the Microsoft Exchange ActiveSync Server in your workplace.
Transfer	Use the Transfer app to transfer not only your contacts, but also calendar events and text messages from your old phone to HTC Acquire.

Home screen

Your Home screen is where you make HTC Acquire your own. It comes with a weather clock widget that shows the time and weather in your current location. You can also add your favorite applications, shortcuts, folders and widgets so they're always just a tap away. To find out how, see Personalizing on page 28.

Extended Home screen

As you start to do more things with HTC Acquire, you might find that one Home screen is not enough. No problem. You can use up to six extra screens. It should be plenty.

Slide your finger horizontally to the left or right and you'll discover more space for adding icons, widgets, and more.

Press ⌂ to return to the main Home screen (that is, the center home screen).

Using Leap view

To jump straight to the screen that you want, press ⌂ or pinch the screen to show the Leap view. It reveals all seven Home screens as thumbnails.

Just tap the one you want and you'll leap right there.

If you're not immediately watching the video, you have up to 30 days before the rental expires.

Two things to check for your computer's Internet connection. One, you may need to turn off your local network's firewall. Two, if your computer connects to the Internet via PPP (e.g. Dial UP, xDSL, or VPN), Internet Pass-through will only support TCP protocol.

2. Connect HTC Acquire to the computer using the provided USB cable.
3. On the Choose a connection type screen, select Internet pass-through, and then tap Done.

Creating a Wi-Fi hotspot

Share your data connection with other devices. Turn HTC Acquire into a wireless router and create a Wi-Fi hotspot.

- You need a tethering plan to create a Wi-Fi hotspot with your phone. For details, contact your service provider.
- Make sure the data connection on HTC Acquire is turned on.

1. From the Home screen, press , and then tap Settings > Wireless & networks.
2. Tap Portable Wi-Fi hotspot settings.
3. Enter a router name or use the default router name.
4. Choose the type of Security and set the password (key) for your wireless router. If you selected None in Security, you don't need to enter a password.

The password is the key other people need to enter on their device so they can connect to the Wi-Fi hotspot created by HTC Acquire.

5. Select the Portable Wi-Fi Hotspot check box.

HTC Acquire is ready to be connected to when you see on the status bar.

Bluetooth

Bluetooth basics

Turning Bluetooth on or off

1. From the Home screen, press , and then tap Settings > Wireless & networks.
2. Select or clear the Bluetooth check box.

An even easier way to turn Bluetooth on or off is with the Bluetooth widget on the Home screen.

Turn off Bluetooth when not in use to save battery power, or in places where using a wireless device is prohibited, such as on board an aircraft and in hospitals.

Changing the device name

The device name identifies HTC Acquire to other devices.

1. From the Home screen, press , and then tap Settings > Wireless & networks.
2. Tap Bluetooth settings.
3. If the Bluetooth check box is not selected, select it to turn Bluetooth on.
4. Tap Device name.
5. Enter the new name for HTC Acquire in the dialog box, and then tap OK.

Connecting a Bluetooth headset or car kit

You can listen to music over a Bluetooth stereo headset, or have hands-free conversations using a compatible Bluetooth headset or car kit. It's the same procedure to set up stereo audio and hands-free.

- For you to listen to music with your headset or car kit, the headset or car kit must support the A2DP Bluetooth profile.
- Before you connect your headset, you need to make it discoverable so HTC Acquire can find it. You can find out how to do this by referring to your headset manual.

1. From the Home screen, press , and then tap Settings > Wireless & networks.
2. Tap Bluetooth settings.
3. If the Bluetooth check box is not selected, select it to turn Bluetooth on.

4. Make sure that the headset is discoverable.
5. Tap Scan for devices. HTC Acquire will start to scan for Bluetooth devices within range.
6. When you see the name of your headset displayed in the Bluetooth devices section, tap the name. HTC Acquire then automatically tries to pair with the headset.
7. If automatic pairing fails, enter the passcode supplied with your headset.

The pairing and connection status is displayed below the hands-free headset or car kit name in the Bluetooth devices section. When the Bluetooth headset or car kit is connected to HTC Acquire, the Bluetooth connected icon is displayed in the status bar. Depending on the type of headset or car kit you have connected, you can then start using the headset or car kit.

Reconnecting a headset or car kit

Normally, you can easily reconnect your headset by switching on Bluetooth on HTC Acquire, and then turning on the headset. However, you might have to connect manually if your headset has been used with another Bluetooth device.

1. From the Home screen, press , and then tap Settings > Wireless & networks.
2. Tap Bluetooth settings.
3. If the Bluetooth check box is not selected, select it to turn Bluetooth on.
4. Make sure that the headset is discoverable.
5. Tap the headset's name in the Bluetooth devices section.
6. If prompted to enter a passcode, try `0000` or `1234`, or consult the headset/car kit documentation to find the passcode.

If you still cannot reconnect to the headset or car kit, follow the instructions in Unpairing from a Bluetooth device on page 177, and then follow the steps under Connecting a Bluetooth headset or car kit on page 175.

Unpairing from a Bluetooth device

You can make HTC Acquire forget its pairing connection with another Bluetooth device. Doing so may require you to enter or confirm a passcode again if you want to reconnect to the other device.

1. From the Home screen, press , and then tap Settings > Wireless & networks.
2. Tap Bluetooth settings.
3. In the Bluetooth devices section, press and hold the device to unpair.
4. Tap Disconnect & unpair, or tap Unpair if the Bluetooth device is currently not connected to HTC Acquire.

Sending information using Bluetooth

You can use Bluetooth to send information from HTC Acquire to another Bluetooth enabled device such as a phone or notebook computer. You can send the following types of information, depending on the device you are sending to:

- Images and videos
- Calendar events
- Contacts
- Audio files

Before you begin, set the receiving device to discoverable mode. You may also need to set it to “Receive Beams” or “Receive Files”. Refer to the device’s documentation for instructions on receiving information over Bluetooth.

1. On HTC Acquire, open the app that contains the information or file you want to send.
2. Follow the steps for the type of item you want to send:

Captured photo or video	After capturing, on the Camera preview screen, tap , and then tap Bluetooth.

6. If prompted, accept the pairing request on HTC Acquire and on the receiving device. Also enter the same passcode or confirm the auto-generated passcode on both devices.
7. On the receiving device, accept the file.

Where sent information is saved

When you send information using Bluetooth, the location where it's saved depends on the type of information and the receiving device.

If you send a calendar event or contact, it is normally added directly to the corresponding application on the receiving device. For example, if you send a calendar event to a compatible phone, the event is shown in that phone's calendar application.

If you send another file type to a Windows computer, it is normally saved in the Bluetooth Exchange folder within your personal document folders.

- On Windows XP, the path may be: `C:\Documents and Settings\[your username]\My Documents\Bluetooth Exchange`
- On Windows Vista, the path may be: `C:\Users\[your username]\Documents`
- On Windows 7, the path may be: `C:\Users\[your username]\My Documents\Bluetooth Exchange Folder`

If you send a file to another device, the saved location may depend on the file type. For example, if you send an image file to another mobile phone, it may be saved in a folder named "Images".

Receiving information using Bluetooth

HTC Acquire lets you receive various files with Bluetooth, including photos, music tracks, and documents such as PDFs.

1. From the Home screen, press , and then tap Settings > Wireless & networks.
2. Tap Bluetooth settings.

3. If the Bluetooth check box is not selected, select it to turn Bluetooth on.
4. Select the Discoverable check box.
5. On the sending device, send one or more files to HTC Acquire. Refer to the device's documentation for instructions on sending information over Bluetooth.
6. If asked, accept the pairing request on HTC Acquire and on the receiving device. Also enter the same passcode or confirm the auto-generated passcode on both devices.

   You'll then get a Bluetooth authorization request.
7. If you want to automatically receive files from the sending device in future, select the Always check box.
8. Tap Accept or OK.
9. When HTC Acquire receives a file transfer request notification, slide down the Notifications panel, tap the incoming file notification, and then tap Accept.
10. When a file is transferred, a notification is displayed. To open the file immediately, slide down the Notifications panel, and then tap the relevant notification.

When you open a received file, what happens next depends on the file type:

- Media files and documents are usually opened directly in a compatible app. For example, if you open a music track, it starts playing in the Music app.
- For a vCalendar file, choose the calendar where you want to save the event, and then tap Import. The vCalendar is added to your Calendar events.
- For a vCard contact file, you can choose to import one, several, or all of those contacts to your contacts list.
